A DYNAMIC OPPORTUNITY, WITH A DYNAMIC COMPANY

"Most people are too busy earning a living to make any money." - Anonymous

THE REASON – WHY THIS AND WHY NOW?

Four years (or maybe five, ... six for some) of college. Then what the heck – let's do another two years for a Master's degree. Now you're REALLY ready! You apply for that job, interview, and then wha-la you're hired. Congratulations, you are now officially an Educator. And according to your first check, a pretty good one at that. Life is grand, you're having fun, and money is in your pocket. This is what all that studying and sacrifice was all about. This appears to be the American dream.

Then one day IT happens - you want more. (And if there's something that we all have in common, it is that we desire something above and beyond what we currently possess.) The question becomes how do you get 'IT'? Well obviously what you're already doing is not the answer; otherwise you would devote more attention to what already exists. Plus, without being able to set the premium (pay rate) for your time, trading time for money truly invest more into someone else's agenda than it does yours.

Contrary to popular belief, you do not work for your current employer. They are just the go-between. You actually work for whoever you owe money to. You get up every morning, perform a few tasks between 8am - 5pm, collect a check, then hand it over to the mortgage company, phone company, car note carrier, insurance company, and then do what you want with what's left over. Some may say, "What's wrong with this?" Well imagine a straight line in front of you, going left to right. This line represents the "go-between" we spoke of a moment ago. You are to the immediate left, and those you owe money are to the immediate right. Now, what happens when that line (your job) disappears? Did the people you owe money to disappear with it? I think not.

YOU

A DYNAMIC OPPORTUNITY, WITH A DYNAMIC COMPANY

So what do you do? Well, we believe we have an answer for you. Are you ready? Here goes Get paid more doing what you're already doing. What if you could provide a service to schools, programs, initiatives (whomever sees fit) that will help them attack issues head on in their organization that are critical to the development of students, parents, and staff? What would you do if you had an opportunity to help transform a young life and lead it in a positive direction? What if all this could start today AND build you a business – a world class educational consulting firm - all at the same time? Would you be interested?

One thing about the business of Education is that it is eminently fundable. No matter what state of our economy or budget cuts that even some districts may be facing, there will ALWAYS be money earmarked for the services that you can provide through ILEC. The business of Education is so premier that it even has its own U.S. Department and yearly budget. (It's like a waterfall of money, and you are just simply placing a bucket underneath, going back and forth with each new budget year!)

You insure your car, your life, and even some valuables around the house. But have you begun to insure your financial stability?

BEGIN YOUR HOME BASED BUSINESS TODAY

A home based business is exactly what it sounds like, a business that is run out of one's home. It can be anything from a corporate consulting service to a party plan. The ideal home-based business allows you to leverage your time to develop an income, and Interactive Learning does just that.

ILEC creates an opportunity to build a business that does not involve inventory, extensive recordkeeping, employee overhead, and provides the benefit of another stream of income for your home.

A DYNAMIC OPPORTUNITY, WITH A DYNAMIC COMPANY

THE CONCEPT

Members of ILEC are basically able to tap into the Company's membership base (Consultants) to extract the expertise required to meet the need of a client. The larger your firm becomes (the network), the greater depth of your talent pool and expertise you possess to select from to position the right person in front of your client. You are compensated on work you conduct yourself, arrange for others, as well as based off of the activity from developing members of your own organization to do the same.

There are many great (and even long-term) rewards to becoming an active member of Interactive Learning and Education Consulting (ILEC). Here is what you receive from us:

- ✓ Membership (and access) into a dynamic and growing network of professionals
- ✓ Opportunity to create residual income
- ✓ Tax benefits of being an Independent Contractor and Business Owner
- ✓ Sales, Marketing, and Advertising mediums (i.e., template business cards, flyers, basic messages for sending), best practices, and business advice
- ✓ Business documents (i.e., contracts, applications, invoices, etc.), guidance, and support on how to conduct your business affairs
- ✓ Newsletters and on-line journals
- ✓ Access to all ILEC products, including its Value Added Services
- ✓ MAKING A POSITIVE DIFFERENCE!

Here is what we want from you: COMMITTMENT.

ILEC represents a great business opportunity for someone looking to earn another income AND make a difference in our communities. And for the most part it's work that you are already doing.

A DYNAMIC OPPORTUNITY, WITH A DYNAMIC COMPANY

“ALRIGHT, I’M CONVINCED – WHAT DO I NEED TO DO?”

You have the distinct option of what you select to do within the confines of the Company - whether you come on board to conduct our work on a contracted basis, schedule presentations, grow your own firm, or a combination of the three. The options are up to, and you will be paid accordingly.

The ILEC family is comprised primarily of two bodies: Agents and Consultants. Each performs unique functions as an Independent Contractor of ILEC, yet both are equally important to the growth and vibrancy of the company.

AGENTS

The Agent’s primary function is to market the name of ILEC and secure prospective clients for the company. Agents are highly instrumental in marketing the work of ILEC and building bridges between the company and clients. Agents can develop their own firm, yet do not conduct any of ILEC’s services.

CONSULTANTS

Consultants can assume the same responsibilities as Agents, yet with the added dimension of actually being able to perform our work. Consultants, in essence, are literally the “face” of ILEC – they are the Administrators that our audience will observe. ILEC Consultants are the very reason why our services are executed with style, dignity, and professionalism; they are the driving force of how the company is perceived to the general public.

If you are ready to move forward we ask you to stop and give it a second thoughtGreat results don’t come easy, overnight, or without proper forethought. If interested after giving it some thought, email us or contact the ILEC member who relayed this message to you and simply state, “I’m ready to make a difference.” From there we will provide you more in depth details on getting you started, and on our compensation plan and business module.
