

Place
Stamp
Here

Interactive Learning and Education

Consulting: A corporation offering a gamut of educational services through a host of experienced, qualified professionals; a hub – and network – of and for educators, fully capable of servicing the needs of any educational institution or initiative.

For more information contact:

ILEC
(313) 283-9866
info@ilec-edu.com

www.ilec-edu.com

Interactive Learning and Education Consulting

“Where Experience and Excellence Meet”

Value Added Services

www.ilec-edu.com

ILEC is proud to bring to your attention another dimension of our educational resources by way of dynamic displays of artistic prowess, insight, and culture through our Value Added Services. These exhibits and demonstrations are prime for school assemblies, seminars, conferences, Black History Month celebrations, or any occasion in which you want to be educated and entertained all at the same time!

Interactive Learning and Education

Consulting: A corporation offering a gamut of educational services through a host of experienced, qualified professionals; a hub – and network – of and for educators, fully capable of servicing the needs of its clients

- ✓ WORKSHOPS – Professional development seminars designed exclusively for you, ranging from a host of topics - all which are relevant to issues and conditions in your school. Some topics include: Classroom Management, RTI, DI and Instructional Strategies
- ✓ CONSULTING – Consultation services for organizational development and institutional augmentation
- ✓ PROGRAM/CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT – Creating program and learning modules to help meet your desired educational goals and objectives
- ✓ INTERACTIVE PRESENTATIONS - Interactive presentations for middle school, high school, and 2-year college students. Each exercise is designed to teach a lesson on respective topics by allowing students to role play real life occurrences.

www.ilec-edu.com

The Black History 101 Mobile Museum

The Black History 101 Mobile Museum provides students with the opportunity to see rare artifacts and read stories of the achievements, contributions, and struggles of African-Americans. Engaging exhibits will reinforce classroom lessons and expand student's prior knowledge base.

Khalid el-Hakim began collecting Black memorabilia as a college student in the early 1990's. Since then Khalid's collection has grown to over 1500 artifacts dating from the African enslavement era to Hip Hop culture. Some of the highlights of the collection include original letters written by Booker T. Washington, Ralph Bunche, Honorable Elijah Muhammad and Rosa Parks. There is even a letter by a young senator named John F. Kennedy written to Michigan State Representative Daisy Elliott who was responsible for writing Michigan's first civil rights legislation.

Pin Points Theatre

Pin Points Theatre can be best described as a community-based theater company that travels internationally conducting plays and workshops for schools, businesses, government agencies, and other theaters all the throughout Washington, D.C., the United States - and so far - in Asia (Guam, Korea, Japan, and Singapore), Canada, and Germany.

Touring productions include: 1,001 Inventions, featuring the vast intellectual accomplishments of African Americans and then traveling into "The Twilight Zone," a world where all inventions by Africans and African Americans disappear; KIAMSHA, performed by youth, ages 12-18, a musical/drama/workshop teaching abstinence from sex, drugs and violence; THE MEETING, a fictitious confrontation between Malcolm X and Martin Luther King and winner of eight NAACP Theater Awards; and HOOKED ON LOVE, a romantic comedy that addresses the science of productive male-female relationships.

